

Publication: Times Higher Education Online

Date: 28 August 2020

Headline: Lily Kong: let's get the technology transformation right

Lily Kong: let's get the technology transformation right

Lily Kong: let's get the technology transformation right

A few fundamental questions need to be answered before we look to a new dawn for higher education, says Singapore Management University president

Singapore Management University president Lily Kong emphasises the virtual transition of higher education that had been growing prior to Covid-19 and pushed to the forefront as a result of the pandemic.

Professor Kong believes that, as higher education leaders, the key to succeeding in the face of such demands is to welcome change and to adapt to the “new normal” in order to allow students to thrive.